Tate,

My understanding is that changes to the data summaries were made as a result of the formatting issues (e.g., removed the Sample Date column to make room for wider columns; created wider columns to prevent information in the database from being cut off). In addition, I have been made aware that clarifying information was included on the updated tables, including some MCL reference values and "J" qualifier codes, which were inadvertently omitted from the original table.

If you have further questions about this issue, please let me know.

Humane,

After a cursory review it appears the data summaries had more than just formatting changed. Why?

Thanks.
Tate

Tate,

I am forwarding to you the reissued data summary packages (reissued due to address formatting issues) for the residents who requested that copies be sent to you directly. These were delivered to the residents last evening. Attached to this email is the cover letter.

Thanks, Humane
